A Canadian Centre for Intimate Partner Violence Brain Injury Workshop

Helping the Helpers: Recognizing and Responding to Intimate Partner Violence-Related Brain Injury (IPV-BI)

Join us as we bring together professionals supporting survivors from a variety of sectors for connection and collaborative learning.

Topics covered include an introduction to IPV-BI including strangulation, typical signs and symptoms, recognition tools and protocols, strategies for accommodation and support, and available resources to assist support professionals in a variety of contexts.

Speakers:

Halina (Lin) Haag, MSW, RSW, PhD

- Introduction to IPV-BI knowledge including identification, screening & support

THE CANADIAN CENTRE FOR IPV·BI

Sandi Lougheed, CRP Past President

- Building community capacity to address IPV-BI in under-served communities
- How grassroots organizations and volunteers can make a difference in supporting survivors
